New london, July 12.—Captain Pinney, of the New london police department, has issued the "Move On" order and it has bee carried on to every police officer in the city uniformed and innuitibrined, but it has not prevented the loitering on the curb along Bank street, near State, nor in State street, the points wherein the order is supposed to be enforced to the loitering of the loitering of the loitering of the curb along Bank street, near State, nor in State street, the points wherein the order is supposed to be enforced to the loitering of the loiter ney, of the New london police department, has issued the "Move On" order and it has bee carried on to every police officer in the city uniformed and ununiformed, but it has not prevented the loitering on the curb along Bank street, near State, nor in State street, the points wherein the order is supposed to be enforced to the letter. The policemen issue the order and the politices and do move on, but their places are e on, but their places are filled by others, and the nulsance continues just as it has since the days when the old men of today were the boys of New London, when the chief leading points were the Lyons the chief leading points were the Lyons and the Gordon corners, that is Bank and States, and Main and State streets. Then the population was 10,000, with but few transients, and the order could be enforced so long as the officers desired continuance of the order. Since then at stated periods the move on order has been tried out but never to a successful issue. Now with a population of at least 33,000, and almost as many more transients, the loading space has extended from the corners of the old days to almost the entire length of State street, both sides, and in Bank street from State to Tilley and opened.

is well-known to the average democrat and the real personality of the com-peting candidates passes away. The police officers surely do the best they can to rid the city of the leitering nuisance after the day's work is done, but the force is inadequate for the occasion. To accomplish the task policemen would have to be stationed at a distance of ten feet apart, and then they would be busy. The force is practically of the same size as it was before New Nondon took prominent place on the war preparation size as it was before New Nondon took prominent place on the war preparation map, and it cannot be expected that such a small force can cope with such a big job successfully, especially when other sections of the city demand police protection. The wonder is that the police get along so well, with the population trebled and more transients than ever including thousands of sallors and soldiers. Captain Pinney has notified the chief of police Mayor Rogers, and the members of the police committee, that there is no oppor-Rogers and the members of the police committee, that there is no opportunity to improve the police conditions without increasing the number of men on the force. All told there are not twenty-five men on the force, day and night, combined, and the beats to of any service to the public, the beats ought to be covered leisurely, so that the officers could make careful observation as they pass along, and have a couple of eyes on the look-out for evil-deers instead of upon their time pleases of that the beats can be accompandations can be averaged to the control of the control near future. In the meantime, repre-centatives of the federal government are in the city arranging for the erec-tion of a large number of houses to tion of a large number of houses to rent to parties employed on work for the government. Enterprising citizens had formed a company, with a capital of $200,000 for the purpose of entering into a sort of co-partnership with the government in the erection of these workingmen's residences. Now announcement is made that the government will go it alone and the buildings will be erected under government agents to have full charge of the structures. All the government asks from the city is the privilege of laying out streets, the induction of water service, gas mains and opportunity for electric service. The city will

Just where these houses are to be erected is not known locally and so far as known, no operations have been taken for the building sites. From governmental requests made, it is plain that the buildings will be all in the same locality, and in a section not now open for building purposes. It is surmised, however, that the buildings will be located in the Jefferson avenue section, where there is a large amount of land well adapted for the purpose. There are three large plots, closely connected and it is believed the government will take the whole or a part of this great tract. The land is so arranged that as Josh Whitcomb used to say, could readily be "out up into building lots." The government officials have indicated that the plans are completed for the new buildings and it is hoped that the work of construction will begin yery soon. In order, that the work may be facilitated. struction will begin very soon. In or-der that the work may be facilitated, Mayer Rogers has informed the officials in charge, that he will call a special council or city meeting, which ever may be required to grant to the government all that is asked for, and to give any possible aid in making the venture all that it is intended.

Should the government residences be erected in the Jefferson avenue sec-In the past and regardless of law and its penalties many in New London have participated in ward caucus who have not registered their political preferment. In so doing they took a chance and got away with it. But in the future caucus lists are liable to be used and only those who have compiled with the law will be permitted to participate. Every full-fledged voter will have an opportunity before the next caucuses are called to register their political preferment which carries with it the privilege to participate in the caucus of the party with which they are affiliated. All others are legally barred from caucus participation.
